Headquarters Troops in the Field.

Richmond, Va., July 21, 1993.

Order No. 182.

I. The adjutant, sergeant-major and color sergeant, as well as Captain William E. Thompson, Company "F," who is hereby detached from his company, will report to the colonel commanding for such duty as may be assigned them until further orders.

II. Major C. O. Saville, with Companies "A," "R," "C," "F" and "H," and, excepting the officers and non-commissioned officers named in paragraph I of this order, and Musician Evans and Private Griggs, of Company "F," all of whom are now in the hospital, and all officers and men now serving in this command, are hereby relieved from further duty with troops in the field, and are directed to return to their homes.

III. The colonel commanding takes occasion, as the representative of the State, to return the thanks of the Commonwealth, so far as he may properly do so, to the officers and men now present, and through them to their comrades already relieved frem duty, for the cheerful, unhositating and faithful obedence that has characterized their conduct during a trying tour of duty, and to compilment them upon their uniform good behavior, which has reflected credit upon the troops and upon the State.

All Struck Tents.

All Struck Tents.

As soon as this order was issued the military on duty in Fulton, at the Reservoir, at the armory, at the Clay Street car sheds and at Oakwood and the squad guarding the arsenal in the Capitol Square broke their camps and struck their tents and proceeded to the armory, where they deposited their arms and accourtements and soon after emerged as elvillans. It was a happy crowd as the men came into headquarters from their posts, nearly all of their ridix on the nearly all of them ridigs on the perienced men, who have operated cars in other cities.

Bitterness Disappearing.

Perhaps the mest noteworthy phase of the strike matter now is the rarity of discussion of it in public. A few individuals in groups on the street corners may be heard to mention the subject, but the bitterness that marked discussions of the subject some time ago is fast disappearing. Little is heard now of the proposition to mark and boycott those who ride on the ears, and daily additional persons are taking up the trolley habit. A good many are still riding in vehicles run for their accommodation, and many more are walking, but not nearly so many as a week ago. The use of cpithets, and especially of the obnoxious and offensive term, "seab," is becoming so rare that it is never heard applied to those who have taken the strikers places, except where small groups of strike sympathizers refer to them in this way. So far as announced, none of the labor organizations which prescribed fines for riding on the cars have repealed or rescinded their action. The fear of this fine restrains many from riding who might otherwise do so.

The men have had a long period of service in very trying temperature, and many of them have been subjected to danger as well as discomfort. That they are all cordially glad to resume the Hr of the civilian after their latest experience at soldiering is no reflection on the men, who have done their work without murmuring.

The men will be raid off in a few days. The check for the entire amount to be paid out will be drawn by the proper officels and turned over to Colonel Anderson, and then Adjutant c, Gray Bossieux will remit checks to the capitains of the various commands, who will distribute the sams allotted to them among their men. The harsh Jingle of the smaller chapel bells striking quickly and more often was not drowned by the solemn strokes that came in mourning measure from the great dome of St. Poter's, it was as if a great five raged and every bell in Reme were vying with every other in anxiety to warn the populæce. The Famous Ring.

Following the ceremony of the recognition of the death of the Pope by the Sacred College came another, shorter, but no less significant and symbolic. On Leo's finger was the famous disherman's ring, which the Carmerlingo, with a whispered prayer, drew gently off, and which later will be broken in the presence of the cardinals, reset and presented to the new Pope when he is elected.

Message from Emperor.

The following telegram, dated Molde, Norway, has been received by Cardinal Oreglia from the German Emperor:

Molde, Norway, July 20, 1968.

"I am painfully affected by the sad news I have just received, I send to the illustrious college of cardinals the expression of my sincere sympathy at the grievous loss the Roman Catholic Church has sustained through the demise of the Pope. I shall always retain a faithful memory of the exalted and venerable who was a personal friend of mine, and whose extraordinary gifts of heart and mind compelled my admiration anew only a few weeks ago, on the occasion of my last visit to Rome.

Coming now to the plazza of St. Peter's a seeñe of vital interest began to untold itself. The vast expanse enclosed within the stately colonnade looked majestle in its serentry. Looking up at the window before which Lee XIII. used to sit, the blinds could be seen half closed, admitting a narrow slant of sun to the death chamber.

Nowhere about the esplanade was there the slightest outward sign of mourning neither on the church front nor on the columns or doors of the Vatican, wherein lay the dead Pontiff. The main entrance of the Vatican showed the chief evidence of activity. As the equipages drove up with distinguished prelates the heavy fron chains continued to loop back the crowd, leaving the nurrow alse for the arriving dignitaries. Back of the chains were massed a crowd of curious sightseers and scattered soldiers off duty. The official presence of the Italian soldiery was kept noticeably in the background.

Inside the magnificent church of St. Peter could be heard the sound of chisel and hammer, already preparing Leo's tomb.

Immediately after the yacht took its position in the harbor the royal salute was fixed by thirteen vessels of the home fleet. Thousands of people lined the streets and wharves, awaiting the arrival of their Majesties. While they were gathering a note of mourning was sounded amid the general rejoicings. It came from the great bell of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Michael, which was tolled solemily in memory of the Pope, whose death undeniably mars the spontaneity of welcome. Their Majesties were received by the lord licutement of Ireland, the Earl of Dudley, and a number of officials, and were conducted to a pavilion, where an address of welcome was read in behalf of the Kingstown municipal council.

DUBLIN, July 21.—The entry of King Edward and Queen Alexandra into Dublin was made the occasion for a goneral holiday. The decorations of the city, especially along the route of the procession to the Vice Regal Lodge, in Phoenix Park, surpassed anything hitherto attempted by Dublin, not excepting Queen Victoria's last visit. The grandstands erected at various places, were crowded, while the neonle were massed on the side-

It was late in the afternoon when the vice Regal Lodge was reached. Their Majesties lunched with the Lord Lieutenant and the day's programme was concluded with a formal visit by their Majesties to the Duke of Connaught.

The whole day's proceedings were not marred by any unpleasant incident, beyond the absence of the ceremony of handing the keys of the city to the King.

SHERIFF SOLOMON WILL STAY HERE

Thinks it Best That He Keep an Eye on Things Since Soldiers Have Left.

Sheriff Simon Solomon will not attend he meting of the Elks in Baltimore, as he expected to do a few days ago. He was very anxious to go, but recent evelopments in connection with the strike situation have rendered it impossible for him to do so. The trouble appears to be all over, it is true, but Soomon feels that since the troops have been taken away it is best that he stay at home and look after things in person.

The Farley cases in the County Court, have been set for to-morrow. As stated before, the chief of the strike-breakers is now far away from Richmond, having completed his work here. The appeal in one of the cases will be withdrawn, and the matter will be dropped. In the other case an appeal from the decision of the lower court-fining Farley for carrying concealed weapons—the right of a jury will be waived, and the matter will be sumitted to the court.

For some time past politics in Henrice, owing to the strike, perhaps, has been unusually quiet. There is strong likelihood, however, that things will break loose again soon. One or two big political gatherings are scheduled for the near future. Keenest interest centers in the fight for the county clerkship, which will, in all probability, be a close and exciting one. The County Democratic Committee will probably be called to meet very soon to adopt a plan for the primary and transact other matters of importance. act other matters of Importance.

The Henrico constables have before them the very agreeable prospect of killing several hundred dogs whose owners have not seen fit to pay the tax on. The new dog law has just gone into effect and the troubles of the constables now begin. If a man who owns a dog is not listed among those who have paid the required tax, the officer sets out forthwith, and with a gun dispatches the unappreciated canine, for which operation the constable gets fifty cents.

A marriage license was issued yesterday in the clerk's office of the County Court to Charles H. Whitlock, a telegrapher of Henrico; and Miss May Bendle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bendle, of Henrico.
